☀ Welcome to Unit 2!

Welcome back! In Unit 1, you started listening to everyday English, greetings, routines, and simple phrases. Now, in Unit 2, you'll take the next step: reading real-life English that's all around you.

¡Hola de nuevo! En la Unidad 1, empezaste a escuchar inglés cotidiano: saludos, rutinas y frases simples. Ahora, en la Unidad 2, darás el siguiente paso: leer el inglés real que está a tu alrededor.

Think about the messages you see every day (Piensa en los mensajes que ves todos los días):

- A sign that says "OPEN" on a shop door
- A note that says "Please wait" in a clinic
- A label that says "Drink water" on a bottle
- A WhatsApp message: "I need your book!"

These are short texts with a clear purpose. You don't need to read every word to understand them. You just need to ask yourself: "What am I looking for?"

Estos son textos cortos con un propósito claro. No necesitas leer todas las palabras para entenderlos. Solo debes preguntarte: "¿Qué estoy buscando?"

We will focus on two skills:

✓ Understand the literal meaning: What does the text say?

Entender el significado literal: ¿Qué dice el texto?

✓ Understand the bigger idea: Why was this written? What does the author want?

Entender la idea más grande: ¿Por qué se escribió esto? ¿Qué quiere el autor?

And guess what? You already do this in Spanish! Now, you'll learn to do it in English, with support, strategies, and confidence.

 Learning Objectives

By the end of this week, you will be able to...

- Recognize 10 high-frequency words related to objects and needs (book, phone, table, water, food, like, need, read, find, word). Reconocer 10 palabras frecuentes relacionadas con objetos y necesidades.

- Read short texts (signs, notes, labels) and identify their main purpose. Leer textos cortos e identificar su propósito principal.
- Answer literal questions: “What does the text say?” Responder preguntas literales.
- Answer inferential questions: “Why was this written?” or “Where would you see this?” Responder preguntas inferenciales.
- Use the Eisenhower Matrix to prioritize your English tasks. Usar la Matriz de Eisenhower para priorizar tus tareas de inglés.
- Create a personal word infographic and record a 40-second audio: “My favorite word is ____ because ____.” Crear una infografía personal de vocabulario y grabar un audio de 40 segundos.

 Remember: You’re not expected to understand every word. You’re learning to read with a purpose, and that’s a superpower!

Los ejercicios propuestos en esta guía pueden ser desarrollados de manera autónoma o con apoyo de tu monitor académico.*

Block 1: What Do You Read Every Day?

¿Qué lees todos los días?

In real life, you don’t read novels to practice English. You read short, useful messages like:

- Signs: “OPEN”, “CLOSED”, “EXIT”
- Labels: “Water”, “Food”, “Phone”
- Notes: “Please wait.”, “Call me.”, “I need your book.”
- Ads: “Free Wi-Fi here!”

These texts are short, visual, and full of familiar words. You don’t need to read every word. Just ask: “What am I looking for?” Estos textos son cortos, visuales y llenos de palabras familiares. No necesitas leer todas las palabras. Solo pregúntate: “¿Qué estoy buscando?”

 Example:

You see a sign: “Please wait. The doctor is busy.”

You only need to catch: “wait” and “doctor” → You understand: I must wait here.

“What is the purpose of this message?”

You’re not tested on vocabulary alone; you’re tested on understanding real communication.

? Reflection 1: What’s the Purpose? (¿Cuál es el propósito?)

Look at this message:

“Free water here. Drink and stay healthy!”

👉 Answer:

1. What is the main word? (Example: water, free, healthy)
2. What is the purpose of this message?
 - A. To sell water
 - B. To offer free water
 - C. To give medical advice

💬 Think: You're already practicing!

Block 2: This Week's Vocabulary (10 Words)

(Vocabulario de la semana)

These words appear in signs, labels, and short messages. Learn them with images and real-life examples. Estas palabras aparecen en avisos, etiquetas y mensajes cortos. Apréndelas con imágenes y ejemplos reales.

Word	What it means	Example
book	libro	"I need your book."
phone	teléfono	"Call me on my phone."
table	mesa	"Put the book on the table."
water	agua	"Drink water every day."
food	comida	"Healthy food is important."
like	gustar	"I like apples."
need	necesitar	"I need help."
read	leer	"I read English every day."
find	encontrar	"Can you find my phone?"
word	palabra	"This word is new for me."

💬 Tip: Say each word out loud 3 times. Draw it in your notebook!

✓ Why this matters:

Literal comprehension and inferential skills help you to guess and understand a reading.

? Reflection 2: Match the Word to the Picture (Empareja la palabra con la imagen)

Look at these images (imagine them in your mind):

1. A glass of water → _____
2. A person calling on a phone → _____
3. A book on a table → _____

Write your answers in your notebook.

Check with the table above. Did you get them right?

Block 3: How to Read Without Stress

Cómo aprender sin estrés

Many students think, “I must understand every word.” But that’s not true!

Strategy: Read with a Purpose

Before you read, ask:

“What do I need to find?”

- A time?
- A place?
- A thing?
- A feeling?

Then, scan the text for that information. Ignore the rest!

Example:

Question: “Where can you get free water?”

Text: “Free water here. Drink and stay healthy!”

You only need to see “here” → Answer: Here!

Autonomy Strategy: Eisenhower Matrix (Simplified)

Not all tasks are equally important. Use this to decide what to do today vs. later:

Today	Later
-------	-------

Watch Unit 2 video	Review vocabulary next week
Record your audio	Practice all 10 words slowly

 Tip: Put your English tasks in the right box. Don't overload "Today"!

? Reflection 3: What Will You Do This Week? (¿Qué harás esta semana?)

Answer in your notebook:

1. What is one task you will do today?
2. What is one task you will plan for later?
3. What word will you practice every day?

Block 4: Speaking Builds Confidence — Even When Reading!

Hablar construye confianza — ¡incluso al leer!

Reading and speaking go together! When you say words out loud, you remember them better. ¡Leer y hablar van de la mano! Cuando dices palabras en voz alta, las recuerdas mejor.

This week's speaking task:

1. Choose your favorite word from the list.
2. Say: "My favorite word is ____ because ____."
(Example: "My favorite word is 'water' because I drink it every day.")
3. Record a 40-second audio.
4. Listen to yourself. Say: "I'm learning!"

 Remember: You don't need perfect grammar. You need real communication.

Your Weekly Mission (Tu misión semanal)

- ☒ Watch the Unit 2 video
- ☒ Create a personal word infographic (draw or use Canva):

- Your favorite word
- A drawing
- One sentence: "I like ____ because ____."
☒ Record a 40-second audio: "My favorite word is ____ because ____."
☒ Use the Eisenhower Matrix to plan your week.

 This is your deliverable for Week 2!  ¡Este es tu entregable para la Semana 2!

Final Reflection – Think & Grow (Reflexión final)

Answer (in English or Spanish):

1. What was one new word you learned?
2. When will you practice English this week?
3. What makes you proud of yourself today?

 You are not “bad at reading.” You are learning to read with purpose. And that is powerful.
